

Vortrag von Bruno Marques Schaefer

Military Dictatorship in Brazil: Causes, Process, and Legacies

Dienstag, 18. November, 09 Uhr
Raum 134

The lecture will discuss the case of the Brazilian military dictatorship (1964–1985), addressing the coup of 1964, the historical pattern of coups and amnesties in Brazil, and the long-term legacies of the dictatorship in the current political context.

Assistant Professor at the Department of Political Studies, IESP-UERJ (Institute of Social and Political Studies, State University of Rio de Janeiro). Coordinator of the Graduate Program in Political Science at IESP. Researcher at the Brazilian Legislative Observatory (OLB) and the Laboratory of Electoral Studies, Political Communication and Public Opinion (DOXA). His academic interests include public policy, political parties, scientific methodology, and political finance.

